INTRODUCING OUR NEW HAND-CRAFTED ITINERARIES FOR 2024/25

TRADE BRIEF

PURPOSE

We are delighted to introduce our new hand-crafted sailings departing in 2024 & 2025 itineraries with you.

WHAT'S INSIDE

We'll share dates and itineraries plus promotional embargo and where to locate and download a selection of print & digital assets available to you for use in your own consumer facing activities. Plus, some useful copy for you to use.

We've also shared some information on our cruise audience – which will help you identify both existing type of Fred. Olsen guests, and new to Fred. Olsen – and how we offer what these guests are looking for.

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

Your marketing & sales teams will have greater understanding of the Fred. Olsen customer.

You will have access to both print & digital assets, the full new programme for 2024 and 2025 in one handy easy reference document, all designed to help you be more successful with your own consumer facing marketing activity of our brand new programme. 😊

OUR 'ENTHUSIAST' GUESTS

Having conducted a significant amount of research, we identified our target audience of 'Enthusiast' guests.

These guests want to do more than tick off destinations which are on the normal tourist trails. They love to visit destinations so they can really immerse themselves in the culture, local art and literature and nature and wildlife of the place they are in.

Bigger ships are perfect for many segments of the cruise market however, we know Enthusiast guests prefer smaller ships. They enjoy the specialness of the cruise experience and the warm and friendly atmosphere you get on a smaller ship.

They are looking for:

- Elegant smaller ships that look like ships. With plenty of outside deck space so they can look out at the world as they sail past.
- Excellent service which is warm, friendly and sincere (not scripted)
- Interesting talks, classes and workshops which give them interesting information on the destinations they are visiting

Our itineraries and on board experiences have all been designed with the Enthusiast guest in mind.

THE PROGRAMME - OVERVIEW

At Fred. Olsen, we share your customers passion for travelling the world, so we're really excited about our new programme for 2024 and 2025, and we think you, and your customers, will love the new selection of sailings.

Across all our new cruises, you will see that we take a unique approach to creating itineraries. Our team of Journey Planners have arranged port calls at the perfect time to experience incredible events, perhaps witnessing the Perseid Meteor Shower, the famed Northern Lights in our homeland, the spectacular bird migration seen from the Gibraltar Strait and the world's largest population of humpback whales in Canada.

We make the best use of our smaller-ship advantage to enable visits to some fascinating destinations, like our call to the French city of Rouen, reached by sailing the size-restricted Seine River. And our on-board Joy of the Journey events mean that your customers and their fellow guests will get to know more about these calls too; a perfect example will be tasting pastéis de nata before we even arrive into Lisbon, with the help of our expert chefs.

Our Grand Voyages are undoubtedly the standout sailings. Iconic settings, such as in Australia and Tasmania, Easter Island, Vietnam, Myanmar and Singapore, are all perfectly complemented by exotic gems: Bora Bora, Cambodia, Brunei, to name just a few. That's not to forget in-depth experiences within each port – guests might like to go in search of the famous 'Big Five' on a wildlife safari in South Africa, or perhaps immerse themselves in Mumbai's iridescent Holi Festival.

Whether your customers want to choose a relaxing break to the Scottish Isles or to join us for an exploration of Iceland's hot springs and waterfalls, and all in between, you can be sure that our smaller ship atmosphere will make their time on board as enjoyable as their time ashore.
